TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23rd, 1862

A word in time.

Some two months ago, we called the attention of our readers to the urgent necessity of instituting an Immigrants' Protection Society, for the succour of those of our countrymen who come to this country without capital, but with the invaluable requisites of good character and industrious habits. We are all of us glad to hear of the arrival of hundreds of hardy colonists, bent on regenerating the face of our rural districts. Argentines should also rejoice to see so many brawny arms brought to develope the resources of a nation hitherto paralyzed. Yet neither our countrymen nor the Government exert themselves to provide a heavy welcome for the new comers. The former think that employment is so readily obtained as to preclude the necessity of temporary provision: the latter points to the Asilo de Inmigrados as sufficient inducement to poor foreigners who seek a new home.

Next week, we expect, the "Raymond" will arrive from Dublin with 200 passengers, most of whom will be unencumbered with worldly wealth. Let us see what they are to expect, on landing in the New World. Labourers are not scarce at present in the growing farms, and for the near approach of shearing-time, it would be extremely difficult to dispose of so many extra hands. Many of our estancieros, in need of peons, will be too busy to be able to come into town, and the immigrants may not have funds to pay the diligence fare. Here we see how immensely useful would be a loan-fund, to save farmers the trouble of leaving their homes in search of hands, and afford new-comers the means of procuring immediate employment. If shares of 29 dollars per annum were taken up by all our wealthy shopkeeping this laudable object would be attained, and we should not have to regret seeing our countrymen in that miserable hostelry provided by the State.

In the last trip of the "Raymond," some hundred men and women were thrown upon our shores, without any provision or resources. Each of us tried to shelter as many as possible, yet numbers were forced to enter the Asilo de Inmigrados. Basques and Italians seem to accept such hospitality without complaining, and we know of the old proverb, "not to look a gift-horse in the mouth." But the Irish think the Asilo is a humbug! No bed, no comfort! no asylum or home, where the wave-tossed immigrant may rest their wearied bones. The chief mercantile houses pay a monthly subsidy to support this institution. Yet such was the misery experienced by our countrymen last year, that the English, Scotch and Irish residents contributed liberally, to rescue them from such untender hospitality.

The same must come to pass next week, if we do not make timely arrangement. It is humiliating to Irishmen that the begging-box should be sent round for their brethern, yet it is better than than suffer them to be huddled together, like sheep, in the Asilo. Let each estanciero send a note to this office, specifying how many peons he may require and giving an order on the diligence for their passage to his estancia. A hundred men may be easily sent off in this manner, without causing any inconvenience, or leaving the new-comers to incur in this city, the risks of want, intemperance, or enlistment.

Political consistency

An article entitled El mal de la Ti ssi'cion, having appeared on the 17th inst in "La Tribuna", in which abundance of the most glaring description is forced upon the unsophisticated readers of that paper, we think it necessary to make a few remarks on the subject,—not that we take any interest in setting our colleague right, but that the article in question coming from the pen of one of our most celebrated native politicians, shews a shallowness and superficiality which is unhappily common in this country. It is urged that General Mitre, after the battle of Pavon, pledged himself to carry out a certain form of Government, and that, having given such promise, he cannot now alter. We are, says the writer, law fully wedded to the Federal government; nothing now can justify our violation of that marriage contract.

Few qualities are so commendable in a statesman as consistency, but adherence, under changing circumstances, to preconceived opinions, is far from always being a political virtue. It may often times be a great political fault; for it may lead to public ruin! We leave it to our readers to try whether was the greatest statesman and patriot, Prince Polignac of France, whose consistency led him and his sovereign to down right ruin, or Sir Robert Peel, who bunted all the insults of his own party, to carry out two measures which on entering office, he had pledged himself to oppose.

Contemplating adherence to any fixed programme is impossible in a statesman, and no matter what may have been General Mitre's pledges, no matter with what formality they may have been entered into, the movement he sees they are attended with danger, or contrary to the public opinion, upon which his very power is built, he must go with that opinion, or risk the welfare of his country.

The conduct of Sir Robert Peel, on the Irish Catholic Emancipation Bill, and also on the Corn Laws, though condemned at the moment, has since received the approval of every thinking man, and the lasting influences which these measures have exercised to his country, will serve as a sufficient refutation to all the charges which portend legislators can bring against his character.

Mr. Pitt and Mr. Burke also charged, the former on Parliamentary Reform, the latter on the question of the American Revolution.

The present state of things is alarming in the extreme. In a few days we shall have the Presidential election upon us, and we doubt if ever the genius of the American Minister Mr. Chase, would get a bill through the four houses in time to meet the exigency. Security and respect are wanting to the government to restore confidence: there is no fixed tenure, for any one, in the whole of the republic, the present is continually torturing the future in an unrigen fo ta sol.

Nothing can come of all this inability is from want of confidence in Congress or government, or dread of the opposition or is it not rather from the mournful conviction which we all inwardly feel that the majority of our public men prefer political consistence, even though it bring us to revolution, rather than legislate times which secure us peace.

We allude to a system which we now find ill adapted to the prosperity of the country, can we seek no bruce, no remedy, or "de mons et cuves". According to the "Tribuna" a true patriot it seems impossible. The whole area of the country is insecure. Such was the opinion of William Pitt and Edmund Burke, and such, we leave no doubt are the sentiments of General Mitre.

The Capital compromise

On Sunday, we are informed, the Provincial Chambers held a secret session. As yet the result has not transpired, and we only know their deliberations were on the Capital question. Rumor has it that the whole question is in abeyance, but the Chambers upon the Capital question is in abeyance, but the Chambers are to remain in their present locality; for it may lead to public ruin! We leave it to our readers to try whether was the greatest statesman and patriot, Prince Polignac of France, whose consistency led him and his sovereign to down right ruin, or Sir Robert Peel, who bunted all the insults of his own party, to carry out two measures which on entering office, he had pledged himself to oppose.

Message du Gouvernement à l'Assemblée Générale de la Province.

Lorsque le Pouvoir Exécutif vous présente la loi sanctionnée par le Congrès National, qui fédéralisait tout le territoire de la province et qu'il vous recommandait de prendre en considération le projet ayant trait à la fixation de la Capitale de la République, qu'il avait soumis en temps opportun au dit Congrès, il déclara dans la note qui en accompagnait la remise, qu'il remettait avec confiance les destinées du pays entre vos mains, convaincu que votre résolution serait digne de la Nation Argentine et du Peuple de Buenos Aires.

La Législature de Buenos Aires, usant de son droit, n'a pas donné son assentiment à cette loi et en transmettant à la Représentation Nationale votre résolution, comme il était de son dévoir, le Pouvoir Exécutif, animé encore de la même confiance, l'a assurée que le Congrès aurait bien que les autres provinces de la Confederation pouvront compter sur la coopération la plus efficace et la plus ferme du peuple de Buenos Aires, ainsi que sur celle de ses pouvoirs publics, également intéressés à mener à bonne fin l'organisation définitive de la République, comme l'unique moyen de consolider la liberté et la paix.

En conséquence le Pouvoir Exécutif a l'honneur de vous communiquer la copie du projet de loi qu'il a présenté en temps opportun au Congrès, a fin qu'il puisse vous servir de base, pour former une résolution qui corresponde aux espérances que la République a déposées en la Province de Buenos Aires et que cette base soit en tout digne d'elle.

Le Pouvoir Exécutif est d'avis que comme l'Assemblée Provinciale va pas accepté en tant que Buenos Aires est en question, la loi sur la Capitale votée par le Congrès, et comme il convient de s'occuper immédiatement de ce point, a fet fet de fixer le siége légal des autorités de la République, qui devient bientôt commencer à fonctionner régulièrement, il lui convient comme représentant la Province de Buenos Aires, qui a créé la première situation et dont la gloire est intéressée à sa consolidation, de coopérer d'une manière efficace aux travaux du Congrès, en mettant sous sa rapport du service du pays tout ce que Buenos Aires peut offrir, en connaissant les intérêts généraux de la Nation dont elle fait partie, ainsi que les intérets particuliers de la Province, lesquels peuvent heureusement se concilier sur la base du projet que le Gouvernement a présenté antérieurement et dont il a recommandé la prise en considération; et il espère que l'Assemblée daignera exercer de cette question dans le sens déjà indiqué et sous les inspirations de son patriotisme.

Dieu garde &c.

Nous donnons aussi le Text du Projet de loi qui accompagnait le Message du Gouverneur aux chambres Provinciales.

PROJET DE LOI.

Art. 1.° Est déclarée capitale de la République, la ville de Buenos Aires, le territoire qui comprend le municipe de la dite ville demeurant à cet effet fédéralisé.

Art. 2.° Jusqu'à ce que les Autorités provinciales de Buenos Aires se transportent sur sur les lieux la dite province aura un député pour leur siége, les dites autorités demeureront dans la Capitale.

Art. 3.° La Banque et les établissements publics dont la siége est inséparable du municipe de Buenos Aires, est qui par leur nature appartiennent a la Province, continueront à la régir et gouverner par les autorités de la dite Province.

Art. 4.° Le siége municipal demeurera séparé, dans tout le territoire fédéralisé sur les bases de son organisation actuelle.

Art. 5.° Les frais d'installation des autorités provinciales ne sou désigné pour leur residence, seront portés à la charge du trésor de la Nation.

Art. 6.° La présente loi sera immédiatement, soumise à l'approbation de la Législature du Buenos Aires.

Art. 7.° Après une période de dix années, cette loi sera révisée a la révision du congrès National et de la Législature Provinciale de Buenos Aires.

Buenos Aires Capitale pour dix ans.

Le Général Mitre a présenté aux Chambres Provinciales un projet qui est fait pour concilier toutes les opinions et satisfaire au désir général de voir finir des débats aussi fatigants que oiseux. Buenos Aires d'après ce projet serait la capitale pendant un période de dix années et les autorités provinciales choisiraient quelque autre point de la Province pour y transporter le siége de leur gouvernement. La municipalité conservrait ses droits sur la capitale et comme ses attributions ont un caractère plutôt administratif que politique, cette concession ne peut amener aucun conflit de ce côté.

Quoiqu'il soit regrettable que la question n'ait pu être réglée sur le terrain de la Fédéralization, nous croyons que l'adoption du Projet tel qu'il est formulé, aurait un certain avantage de ne point en prejuger la solution definitive, mais d'en remettre sulissamment l'époque pour que Population publique, éclairée par une longue période de tranquillité et de paix, puisse se prononcer avec une complète connissance de cause. D'un autre côté la situation actuelle se détendrait et le calme remissant à la vue d'un pouvoir régulièrement constitué et entouré de toutes les garanties de stabilités et de force, répandrait sur le pays des bienfaits dont la prospérité générale ne tarderait pas à prouver la grandeur.

Nous qui n'avons pas voix au chapitre mais qui sommes pourtant intéressés a un plus haut point à l'établissement d'un ordre de choses qui garantit la sécurité publique et le développement des intérêts moraux et matériels du pays, nous faisons les vœux les plus sincères pour que tous les partis fermoignent le leur modération en se ralliant au gouvernement et qu'ils tiennent compte à celui-ci de son respect pour les diverses opinions, qui divisent le public.

Il est probable que cette semaine nous tirera de notre perplexité actuelle et que les Chambres provinciales se prononceront enfin sur cette épineuse question.

Nous félicitrons le Gouvernement, en terminant cet article, de l'heureuse idée qu'il a eue de soumettre son projet avant tout aux Chambres Législatives : il prévient ainsi la répétition d'un fait d'une facons qu'eue pas cette, c'est de voir repousser les décrets d'un Chambre souveraine et nationale par un pouvoir législatif d'un ordre inférieur. La marche adoptée dans le cas actuel évitera au Congrès National l'humiliation de voir ses décrets tomber devant la volonté d'un pouvoir local.

Les élections pour la Présidence donnent partout la même résultat; c'est à dire que le Général Mitre obtient partout la majorité des votes. Le future Président peut-être puissement fier des hommages unanimes qui lui parviennent de tous côtés. En Tucuman même résultat dans les élections sur la Présidence des autres provinces rien d'important.

ETRANGER.

—On lit dans la Sentinelle ou journaux:

Le port de Toulon a reçu Peiville est arrivé aussi pour distribuer de travailler pour et mit pour mettre le transport a vapeur la Maqueme en état d'appareiller le plutôt possible avec le reste de l'escadre du Mexique.)

D'après les préparatifs qui se font dans tous les ports de France, il devient à peu près démontré que la campagne d'outre-mer commencera dans des conditions capables de surmonter tous les obstacles.

On parle de trois divisions d'infanterie et d'un effectif d'artillerie et de cavallerie proportio ne ce développement de Parmée expéditionnaire.

On ne connaît pas encore les numéros des régiments qui seront appelés à marcher, mais cependant il est positif que le 2.e bataillon de chasseurs à pied, dans en moment à Grenoble, a reçu l'ordre de se tenir prêt à partir.

On sait que la marine est prête à Toulon depuis longtemps.

Au moment où tous les moyens de transport sont mis en réquisition, on a cependant reconnu à se servir de frégates à vapeur à roues de 450 chevaux qui grâce à leurs installations intérieures, peuvent fort peu de bagages et prendre autre charges, tout en dépensant des sommes fabuleuses en combustible, car en un cite quelques-uns qui, pour porter 500 hommes à la Vera-Cruz, ont brûlé pour 300,000 fr. de charbon.

On s'occupe encore cette fois que les vaisseaux armés en flûte et de grands transports à vapeur qui offrent de garanties rygiéniques et de bien-être supérieures, et surtout plus économiques.?

—On lit dans le même journal:

"Le transport à vapeur la *Mo*selle, commandé par M. Ravel, descendant de vaisseau, a appareillé hier au soir pour la Vera-Cruz, avec un énorme chargement de vivres et de liquides, destinés à l'armée expéditionnaire du Mexique.

"Ce navire emporte, dit-on, une cargaison évaluée à 1400 tonneaux ou environ, pesants légalement 280 mille rations complètes, c'est-à-dire de quoi ravitailler une armée de sept mille hommes pendant 40 jours."

PEROU

Les nouvelles de Callao sont en date du 11 Août.

Le 18 Juillet, anniversaire de la déclaration de l'indépendance, a été publiée par la manière générale pour tous les débits publiques. sans exception.

Aussitôt la promulgation de la loi, tous les prisonniers pour délits politiques ont été mis en liberté et leurs droits acquis à la protection de rentrer dans leurs foyers.

Cette mesure a fait le meilleur effet.

MEXIQUE

Les journaux Péruviens publient des nouvelles postérieures de quelques jours à celles qui nous sont déjà parvenues.

L'armée de la République mexicaine reconnaît toujours le nouveau ordre de choses, qui reconnaissent avec modération à la défense de la patrie.

Le pays donnait des symptômes de vie et d'animation. Les désordres civiles et les luttes intestines avaient cessé devant la menace d'une invasion étrangère.

La résistance devenait générale et le enthousiasme s'entretenait en conflits de cœurs.

Le Général Comonfort, vice-président du Mexique, à la tête d'une brigade de 3000 hommes avait quitté Tampico pour aller s'emparer à Tamaulipas débarqué et venir aux efforts à ceux du général Zaloga pour arrêter la marche de Forsmuni.

Preparation du terrain.

Le terrain se prépare en donnant quatre labours très profonds à la charrue ou à la bêche d'automne, un autre au printemps et le dernier avant de semer; puis on le dispose en sillons dont les deux d'une doit avoir environ un pied de hauteur et autant de largeur à la base, mais ce mant ne a ce qu'il aille toujours en diminuant jusqu'à la pointe, dont la longeur ne doit pas dépasser quatre doigts. Cette disposition du terrain sert à concentrer la chaleur si essentielle à la naissance de la plante, qu'il saigit de protéger, et ne peut se faire avec la charrue ordinaire. Elle est aussi pour distribuer avec égalité et sans dependition les grandes espèces de retenue sans en n'y pas accuser les sillons. Pour les grandes espèces de retenue sans beaucoup de sillons, il faut creuser à des distances proportionnées des trous larges et profonds où on mettra de l'engrais et on recouvrira avec des fosses, que l'on remplit ensuite avec de la terre bien ameublie et mesme afin que les mêmes trouvent passer dessus sans dependre pour prendre la base.

Lorsque la graine est germée, ce n'est que quand la terre manque de fertilité qu'il convient de la fumer, toujours cependant en petite qualité, afin d'éviter que la plante n'acquière trop de force de végétation. Les terrains salpêtrés exigent un fumier de nature de bœuf, et les argiles un fumier de cheval; mais le plus avantageux est celui qui est formé des excréments humains desséchés, pétrifiés et mêlés de sable ou de terre légère. Les dépôts fimentoient que transportent les torrents et les rivières, ainsi que ceux qui sont formés au fond des étangs et des mares sont aussi excellents. Quand on emploie, comme engrais, le sédiment marc des olives, on les conserve dans la bergerie à une certaine profondeur, afin que les plus grossières puissent en profiter. Pour attaquer la première façon de labour, il est nécessaire de se conformer à la configura ion du terrain et la diriger les eaux qui doivent l'irriguer. Si l'y a eu sécheresse avant d'effectu r la semaille il faut arroser d'abord, sur tout quand il a été nécessaire de a retarder à cause de la récolte de fèves ou autres plantes, sans jamais le mêler avec terre et qui en qui épuisé le suc.

Establishments of that nature as the above-mentioned, have given in Germany and the United States, such well known great advantages, for the last ten years, as to their superiority in every branch of practical instruction, that it seems unnecessary to go into any particulars as to their merits.

The system of penmanship by Peitzsch and Salmon, improved by Diesterwey and many others (names well known throughout the world) have for basis to draw the attention of the scholars to the practical, and attained by that method, in an easy and simple way, and in a very short time, the most astonishing results.

The undersigned, by long experience in the first commercial houses in Europe, and afterwards in some of the best schools, confidently believe themselves to be thoroughly competent to establish here such an Academy, and to manage it according to its name.

We take the liberty to inform the public, that the Academy shall be opened on the first of October.

As for the informations required in regard to scholarships, terms and others the Directors will give all reference.
